The picture cards show you materials, which are used in jobs of trade. First the teacher shows the learners the picture cards and repeats the words. If the children know the words, they can play the flyswatter game. The teacher puts the picture cards on the board. The teacher asks two learners to stand in front of the board. Both get a flyswatter. The teacher reads a short text, where these words of the picture cards are mentioned. If they are mentioned, the young learners quickly have to hit the correct picture card with their flyswatters. First one wins.
